Walk Bike Ride Mt. Shasta Mobility Plan

Final Plan Adopted October 24, 2022

For the past year, the City of Mt. Shasta has been developing a mobility plan called Walk Bike Ride Mt. Shasta. Through this effort, the City is developing strategies and ideas for transportation improvements to foster a vibrant, sustainable community with accessible connections between businesses, neighborhoods, schools, and our surrounding natural environment.

In March, the City held a virtual open house, conducted interviews, and hosted a community meeting to share initial ideas for bike and pedestrian improvements. In June, the City held a community workshop and hosted a virtual open house to share the updated recommendations and collect additional community feedback. This fall, the City requested public comment from September 14 to October 9, 2022 on the draft plan.

The plan was presented to the Mt. Shasta Planning Commission on September 20 and City Council on October 10. It was adopted by Mt. Shasta City Council on October 24, 2022. The plan will provide a roadmap for making sustainable transportation decisions over the next ten years. The plan will also help the City attract grant funding to assist with implementing priority projects.
